GARDEN CITY - Authorities have arrested a Boise man after they say he solicited a police detective for sexual acts.

Garden City Police says Wayne Olin, 65, was arrested on Tuesday at about 3:15 p.m. Police had been conducting an ongoing investigation along the Boise River near Plantation Island.

In the past, neighbors in the area have complained that the island is often used by men for gay sex. Some locals in fact call the area "fantasy Island."

"We were 100 feet from Mystic Cove Park where school's out, kids play, it is a secluded area," said Detective Mike Babbitt of the Garden City Police Department. "But who's to say that children can't be down there running around?"

Garden City Police said Tuesday afternoon that they also are investigating an 80-year-old man. That suspect, officials say, grabbed a detective and solicited for sex.

"We have been monitoring this particular area of the Boise River," police said in a press release. "We have zero tolerance for this behavior and will continue all necessary enforcement efforts necessary to stop it from re-occurring."

What is illegal about soliciting sex? Is this a prostitution issue? If it is illegal to try to hook up with other people how is it justified that gay people down by the river are targeted while people who go to the bars on a Saturday night are not? This seems like a double standard to me and frankly I feel like it is a huge invasion of privacy. Why should the government care about people attempting to hook up with other people?

Is the problem public indecency? How do the cops know they wont "get a room?"

I noticed that another story currently active on this site has the head line "Idaho sex offender sought in 'peeping' cases" but did not contain words like heterosexual or straight, while this one has the word gay in it. Oh my!
